Dear Dr Arulanantham,

Thank you for your help with the manuscript, "An Energy efficient Routing Scheme in Internet of Things enabled WSN: Neuro-Fuzzy Approach", which you recently reviewed for The Journal of Supercomputing.

For your records, the decision on this manuscript, based partly on your input, was: Revise. Any comments to authors have been appended below.

We greatly appreciate your assistance and participation in the review process for The Journal of Supercomputing and hope that we can continue to benefit from your expertise on future submissions.

Kind regards,

The Journal of Supercomputing

Reviewer 1

- Paper has written very well. But,
- The proposed Neuro-Fuzzy-Based Energy-Efficient Routing (NFEER) algorithm is already available with the same functions .so, no novelty is proposed in this paper.
- This paper has more similarity contents.

Reviewer 2

Work needs more improvement in terms of graphs and their explanation.

Reviewer 3

The article research has made good progress.
The proposed work compared the parameters in a proper way.

Reviewer 4

The optimal characteristics to construct a stable network include channel frequency and location-based distance, according to the proposal - An Energy efficient Routing Scheme in Internet of Things enabled WSN: Neuro-Fuzzy Approach.

The paper is very interesting. Some comments:

1. what is the difference between IoT channel and traditional wireless channel?
2. Section 2, Literature Survey is confined. Need more recent review papers in 2022.
3. Figure no 2 to 9 relevant details not to appear in section 3.
4. In Figure 2 is Neuro-fuzzy rule-based architecture or Neuro-fuzzy rule-based proposed system? Give a suitable caption.
5. The complexity of section 3.4 should need more description.
6. If the system selected a bad channel by false detection, the system interference may be great to decrease the performance. How to solve the problem.
7. Figure 1 need to redraw with good clarity.
8. Check typos and grammatical errors.

Reviewer 5

1. For the routing in IoT-enabled WSN, the author considers three-parameter, CH distance to sink, cluster size,
